

Hidden Treasures Found At B'Dazzled

For nearly 2 years now, Debbie Damon and the girls at B'Dazzled Ladies Resale Boutique at 1308 W. Gray have been providing trendy and unique designer clothing for women. This "bedazzling bungalow boutique" is always filled with hidden treasures, just waiting to be found. However, a few months ago, the ladies struck gold!

considered one of the most imaginative of contemporary designers.

The ladies contacted Moini's office in New York, and were told that he had not designed evening bags for almost 15 years! These bags were valued around $3500 for each bag when they were made. After reviewing all of the ways that these bags could be sold, they decided that an

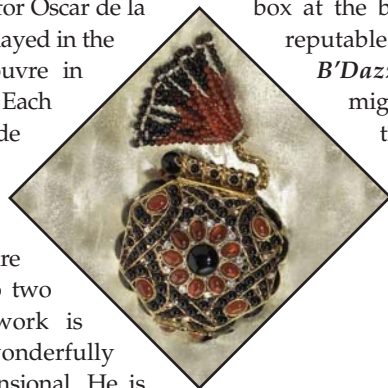

A new consignor came in to the store, with a variety of VERY unique evening bags. Inside, the bags were signed, Iradj Moini. Neither the consignor nor the ladies at B'Dazzled had ever heard of this designer. For the next few days, the women at B'Dazzled, kicked their Nancy Drew skills in to action.

The gals discovered that Iradj Moini was the couture designer for Oscar de la Renta. His work was displayed in the TROP exhibit at the Louvre in Paris, France. Oh WOW! Each gorgeous bag is hand made in brass or copper wire with imported glass stones, semi-precious, and precious stones that are individually hand set, no two pieces are alike. His work is invariably large, wonderfully detailed, and three dimensional. He is considered one of the most imaginative of contemporary designers. The ladies contacted Moini's office in New York, and were told that he had not designed evening bags for almost 15 years! These bags were valued around $3500 for each bag when they were made. After reviewing all of the ways that these bags could be sold, they decided that an auction would benefit their consignor the most. They contacted Amy Lawch at the Houston office of the internationally renowned auction house, Ivey-Selkirk. Now, the whole world will have a chance to view and purchase some of fashion's most incredible pieces of art.

This just goes to show you that you never know what could be in that dusty box at the back of your attic! With a reputable consignment store, like B'Dazzled by your side, you might find your own hidden treasures!
